

Craig Kyle Hemphill Law Offices PLLC Announces New Practice Area of Medical Business Transactions

16 Nov 2009

HOUSTON, November 16, 2009—Craig Kyle Hemphill Law Offices PLLC, providing legal and consulting services in the areas of Corporate and Business Transactions, Construction Law Transactions and Church Law Transactions, announced the formation of its Medical Business Transactions group.

"This move allows us to utilize our expansive corporate expertise to service consulting and legal representation needs of medical professionals regarding their administrative and business operation functions," said Craig Kyle Hemphill, President and Managing Shareholder of Craig Kyle Hemphill Law Offices PLLC. CKHLO PLLC expects to offer full transactional services to physicians, dentists, as well as medical services support entities.

Hemphill said, "Our new Medical Business Transactions practice group, which I will head, will assist medical professionals by reviewing, drafting and negotiating medical employment agreements, licensing agreements, operating, joint venture and partnership agreements, managed health care agreements, medical supply agreements and waste disposal contracts." "The group will also provide general medical regulatory and compliance advice for medical professionals dealing with local, state and national governmental agencies and review boards." Doris Sun Kung, a noted Sugar Land neurologist, said, "Craig worked tirelessly and flawlessly to recently negotiate a major transaction for my practice." "I offer nothing but praise and extreme satisfaction for the impeccable services that CKHLO rendered on my behalf."

Hemphill served as a Federal Law Clerk to the Honorable Kenneth M. Hoyt, United States District Court, Southern District of Texas. He earned a Juris Doctor degree, Magna Cum Laude (Third in Class) from Thurgood Marshall School of Law, Texas Southern University, where he served as the Editor-in-Chief on the Thurgood Marshall Law Review from 1997-1999, earning Highest Honors in Appellate Litigation, Administrative Law, Federal Jurisdiction, Consumer Rights, Trial Simulation, Advanced Criminal Law and Constitutional Law. Hemphill is also a graduate of Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University, earning a Masters of Divinity in Theology, Cum Laude, focusing on ethics and culture, and he received the 2009 B'nai B'rith Award in Social Ethics for scholarly competence in the field of social ethics and personal commitment to social causes. His undergraduate alma mater is the University of Texas at Arlington where he graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Economics.
